Always cross busy streets with an adult. Look left, right and left again before and during crossing. Adults may forget to look, so you should always look.