

Regional Physicians Advisory Board

Region One

NOTE FROM THE CHAIRMAN:

This is our Region's second attempt at a Newsletter and hopefully you will find it informative. We have provided some benchmarking data from our region and the State for you to use as comparison for your individual units in your Performance Improvement projects. In addition, we have provided some facility capability data only for informational purposes. Also included are the most recent proposed State guidelines that have been recently developed for Geriatric Trauma.

As always, we welcome your comments and your participation with the Region 1 RPAB. Our meetings are open to the public and especially the EMS "public". We have included a schedule of our upcoming meetings. You may reach us at pamela_green@trihealth.com.

PEDIATRIC CARE – IS YOUR DEPARTMENT UP TO DATE?

If you've been to any recent national EMS or pediatric conventions, you may have noticed that many have included sessions on the Institute of Medicine (IOM) 2006 report on the state of pediatric prehospital care—Emergency Care for Children: Growing Pains. For those who have not had the opportunity to learn about the IOM report, I thought I would review briefly some of the more important points and how they pertain to EMS departments and their medical directors. First some background...

In 1991, HRSA (Health Resources and Services Administration) requested that the IOM study pediatric emergency medical services. HRSA is part of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), and runs the EMSC program. This study published by the IOM in 1993 raised national awareness to the embarrassing inadequacies of emergency care for children in the United States and highlighted important disparities in care between children and adults. Several recommendations came out of this study and focused on five areas: education and training, equipment and supplies, communication, evaluation and research, and regulation and funding. I would like to focus on pediatric education and training portion.

The 1993 recommendations for education and training stressed the following:

- Providing the public with safety/prevention education, first aid/CPR, and how to activate the EMS system
- Development and use of pediatric-specific curricula for organizations that accredit health care professionals treating children in emergency settings, including Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs), physicians, and nurses

As a result of those recommendations, two significant projects were initiated including development of the PEPP program which provides evidence-based training to prehospital professionals on pediatric care. The other project was National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's (NHTSA), HRSA's and the National Association of EMS Educators' (NAEMSE) National EMS Education Standards Project. This project (still in progress) will help guide EMS education program managers and educators in making appropriate decisions about what material to cover in the academic setting.

Ten years later, the IOM was commissioned to re-address the issue of emergency care. To this end, the IOM formed three subcommittees, each of which published a report in the 2006 document. One of those reports specifically dealt with children, Emergency Care for Children: Growing Pains. In this report, the authors talk about how deficient prehospital education is in pediatrics. In one study, half of EMS agencies in a certain state did not provide any pediatric education to its EMTs or paramedics. Another study showed that only 11% of paramedic schools provided more than ten hours of pediatric training. A study by Glaeser et al in 2000 surveyed the National Registry of EMTs (NREMT) database and found that only 6% of all paramedics had 0-3 hours of pediatrics in last 2 years. In 2004, the NREMT reported that a third of paramedics failed the registry exam in their first attempt and two-thirds of those failed the pediatric/obstetrics section.

So what are available options if your EMS department is a little lean in the little kid department? There are several options. One of those is to use the NHTSA National Standard Curriculum to make sure you are specifically addressing the most important aspects of pediatric prehospital care in your continuing education classes. As mentioned above, a “newer” more comprehensive replacement for this curriculum will be available in the months to come--The National EMS Education Standards Project.

There are also a variety of well-put-together comprehensive courses available to bring your EMTs and paramedics up to speed with current prehospital pediatric care. Some of these include the following and many are offered through local hospitals.

- PTLS (Prehospital Trauma Life Support)
 - 16-20 hours with a portion on pediatric assessment
- PEPP (Pediatric Education for Prehospital Providers)
 - BLS/ALS versions: 7, 13 hours
- TRIPP (Teaching Resource for Instructors in Prehospital Pediatrics)
 - Resource manual for EMS educators based on the National Standards Curriculum
- EPC (Emergency Pediatric Care) course
 - BLS/ALS versions: 8, 16 hours
- SCOPE (Special Children’s Outreach and Prehospital Education)
 - All EMTs: 8 hours
 - Emergency care for children with special health care needs
- PALS, APLS
 - In my opinion, not as appropriately focused for prehospital providers as the other courses above.

What if you feel that you as the medical director need some help in the area of pediatrics? You are not alone. In fact, the IOM Pediatric Subcommittee recommendations specifically address this issue calling for the use of available clinical practice guidelines for pediatric emergency care (There are many “evidence-based” model pediatric protocols available; I’d probably start with the NAEMSP's), and also establishing a pediatric "point person" for your EMS agency.

The IOM Pediatric Subcommittee recommends that "EMS agencies should appoint a pediatric emergency coordinator and hospitals should appoint two pediatric emergency coordinators – one a physician – to provide pediatric leadership for the organization." The "pediatric coordinator" for an EMS agency can be an EMT-P, physician, or nurse and serves as a formal advocate for children within that agency. This person should assure adequate pediatric continuing education, oversee pediatric quality improvement initiatives, assure appropriate pediatric equipment & medications, assist in the development and maintenance of pediatric practice guidelines/protocols, and participate in pediatric EMS research efforts.

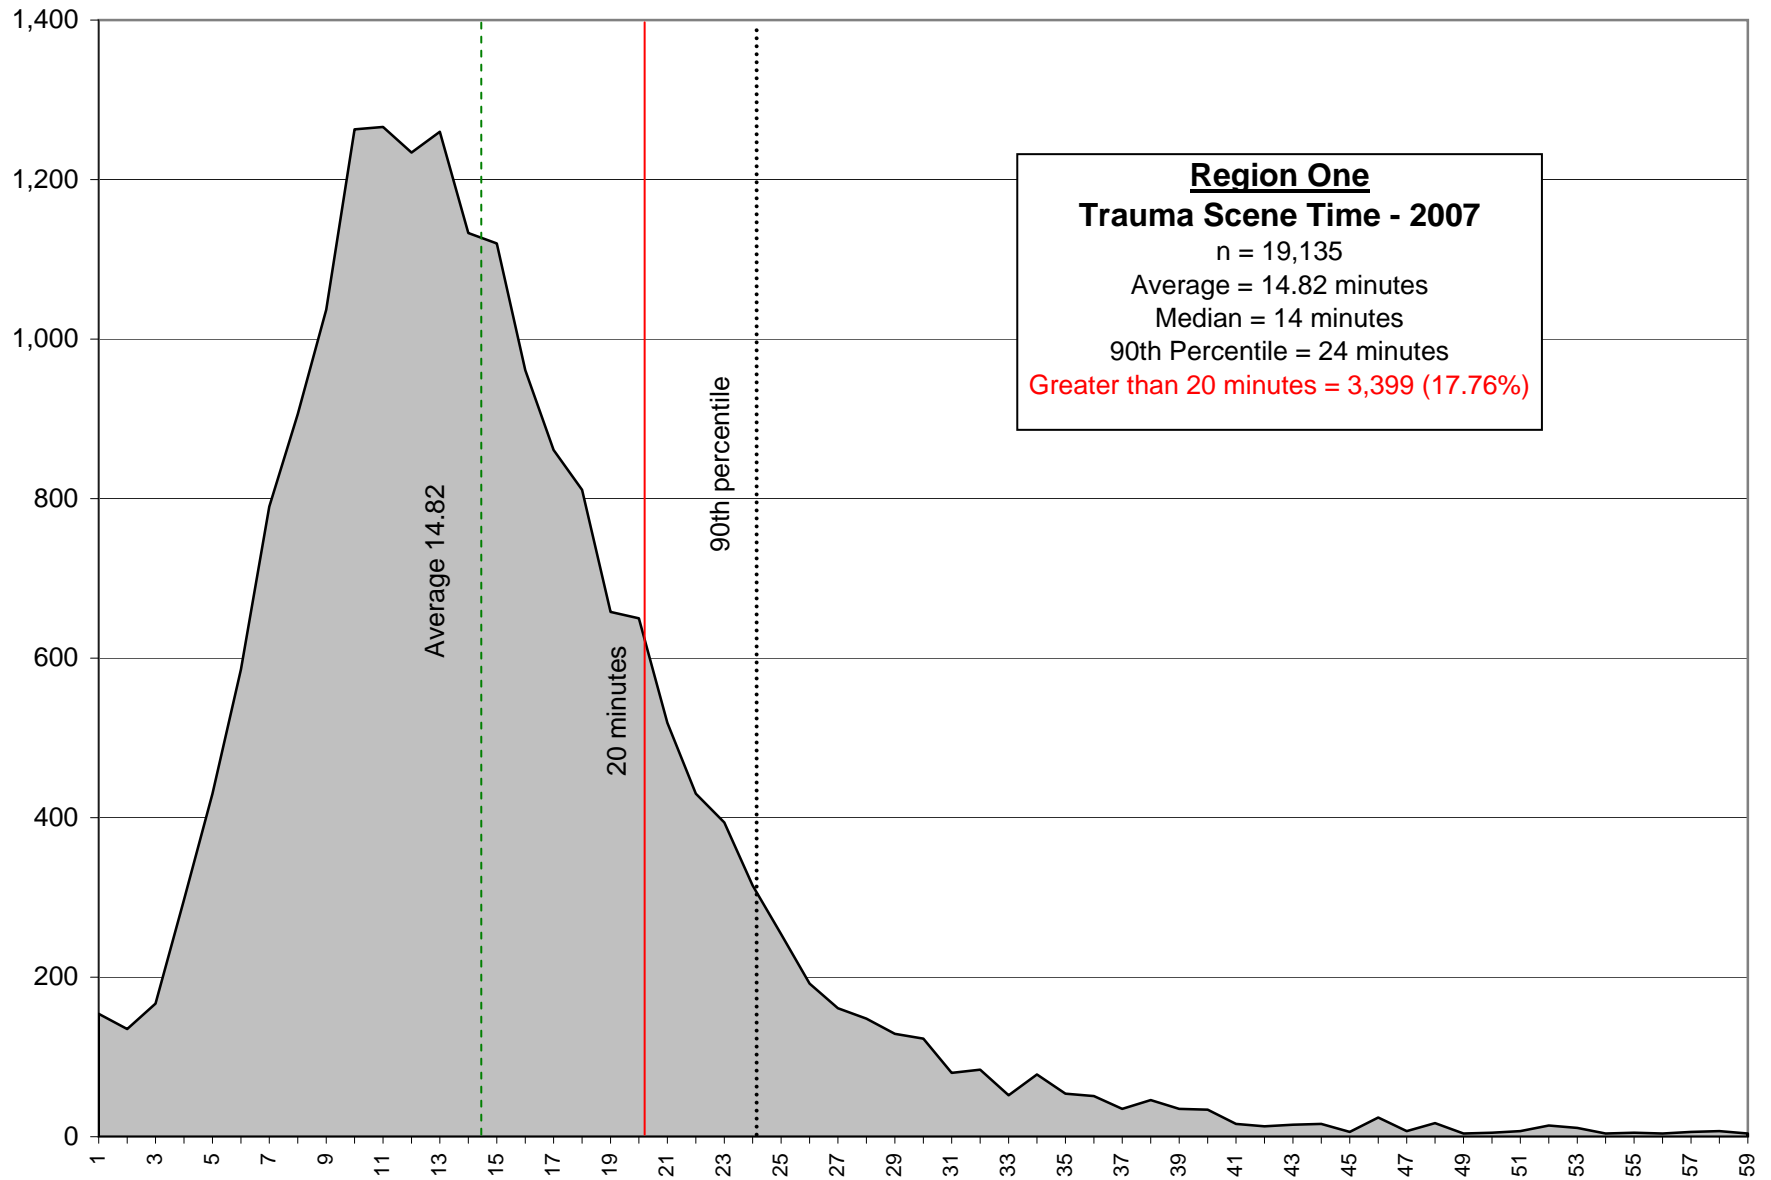

In line with the IOM report, I will ask you to consider seriously establishing a pediatric point-person for your organization. Having a dedicated advocate for children within your organization will improve the care you deliver to kids; I promise that. If nothing else, it brings someone else to the team to help share the work! There are plenty of people in our community willing to assist you on some level with your pediatric efforts—you just have to ask around.
