

EMS Reinstatement Examination

Note: Every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of these directions at the time of posting. As the process evolves, the National Registry of EMTs (NREMT) may make adjustments to the application and procedures. If you have any problems with the on-line process, please contact the NREMT for assistance.

What is a Reinstatement Examination?

A First Responder or EMT whose certification is expired for a period of less than six (6) years may be eligible to take this examination in order to reinstate their EMT certification with the State of Ohio. (If the certificate has been expired for more than three (3) years, remedial training must be completed prior to sitting for the reinstatement exam.)

What material should I study for the examination?

The examination is developed by the National Registry of EMTs. Questions for the examination are drawn from the same data base as examinations completed by candidates for initial certification.

What type of examination will I take?

The EMS Reinstatement examination is a computer adaptive test (CAT) developed by the National Registry of EMTs and administered by Pearson VUE testing centers across the state. CAT more accurately measures the competency of a candidate by using a computer algorithm that selects questions for each candidate based on how they're doing as they proceed through the exam. Each candidate will take a unique exam with questions drawn from a database of thousands of items. The exam will be based entirely on the candidate's individual ability. Each candidate will be given a set of starting questions. Based on their answers to those questions, the computer estimates the candidate's ability up to that point and selects the next question. Each time the candidate answers a question, the computer will re-estimate their ability and select the next question to be presented. If the EMT quickly shows competency by successfully answering the more difficult questions, they will receive a minimum number of questions to pass the examination.

Will I need to be an experienced computer user to take a computer based exam?

The computer testing system has been designed so that it can be used by anyone with even minimum computer experience. A tutorial will be available to each candidate at the testing center prior to taking the examination. You may also visit the Pearson VUE web page to view a sample of what you will see at the testing center – <http://www.vue.com/nremt/>

Scheduling can be completed with Pearson-VUE via the Internet or a toll-free phone number.

Where will the computerized tests be administered?

NREMT has selected Pearson-VUE to provide computer based NREMT exams. There are eight (8) Pearson-VUE testing centers in Ohio. Pearson-VUE has contracted with six (6) additional sites to provide EMS testing. For information on testing sites, go to http://www.ems.ohio.gov/certification_testing_site.asp

The exam is the same regardless of which state it is taken in.

What are the testing center hours?

Test center hours will vary. Pearson VUE has made a contractual commitment with the NREMT to provide evening and weekend testing opportunities.

Once an exam appointment has been scheduled, can it be changed or cancelled?

Yes. Each candidate must contact Pearson-VUE directly to cancel or change an appointment to test. The cancellation or change must be made no less than 24 hours prior to the scheduled appointment or the candidate will be charged for the exam.

Is there a limit to the number of times I can attempt the exam?

Yes. The Reinstatement Examination must be successfully completed within three (3) attempts at the level you seek to reinstate your certification. If you are unsuccessful in three (3) attempts you must meet all training and certification eligibility requirements at that certification level.

What is the cost to take the computer based NREMT exam?

Exam fees cover both the NREMT testing fee and testing center costs and will be the same regardless of the location at which the test is administered.

Exam Level	Exam Fee
First Responder	$ 65
EMT-Basic	$ 70
EMT-Intermediate	$100
Paramedic	$110

Will there be time limits for completion of the exam?

There is an overall time limit for each examination, just as with the pen-and-paper exams. However, most candidates complete their exam prior to time running out.

Is there a time limit for each question?

No.

Can a candidate skip questions and go back, or review previous questions and change answers?

No. Because each question is scored after it is answered and the score determines the next question in the adaptive sequence, it is not possible to review and change your answer.

Is it possible to trick the computer program by missing a few questions to get easier ones for the remainder of the exam?

No. The design of CAT is to verify that the candidate meets the entry level skills to be certified as meeting the minimum competency standard. If a candidate deliberately misses questions, the algorithm may interpret the performance as below the passing standard.

What is the best way to study for a CAT?

The questions on a CAT are taken from the same pool of questions that make up a conventional test. Therefore, it covers the same range of content. Study techniques that worked well for an exam candidate in the past should work as she or he prepares to take the adaptive test. Some test takers have mistakenly assumed that they can study for a CAT test by focusing on only a few important topics. A wiser test taker will study in depth across the entire scope of the content covered by the test. This strategy increases a candidate's likelihood of passing the exam.

Will I be eligible for NREMT certification if I pass the examination?

No, successful completion of a Reinstatement examination will apply to reinstatement of an Ohio certificate to practice only.

How will I know if I pass the examination?

The examination results will be available generally, within 1 business day and will be sent to you by the NREMT. You will receive both an electronic and hard copy of the results.

Once I have passed the exam, will my Ohio certificate to practice automatically be reinstated?

No. Once you have been notified that you have passed the exam you will need to submit a completed application for Reinstatement to the Division of EMS along with the DMA for State Licensure form. These forms will be available on the Division of EMS website at www.ems.ohio.gov .

If I want more information on CAT, where can I go?

There are a number of articles regarding CAT as well as information regarding the testing process on the NREMT web page – www.nremt.org .
